Lottle Schonberger, a pretty fourteen-year-old girl, of 127 Melrose street, Brooklyn, testined that on Oct. 30, 1890, she carried a letter from Miss Pfluge to Probat. This was to offset the claim of the delense that Probat never received any letters from Miss Pfluge pregarding the alleged promise of marriage.

"Did Mr. Probat say anything to you or ask who the letter was from?" queried Lawyer Untermeyer.

"No, he knew the bandwriting," innocently replied Miss Schooberger, convulsing the spectators and jury and making Brewer Probat's red tace grow still redder.

Adolph Stoll, who lived at Miss Pfluge's brother's boarding-house, gave corroborative testimony for the plaintiff, While he was testifying Miss Pfluge came in from an anteroom carrying the baby in her arms. It is a pretty golden-harred little tot, with cheeks very red, like its alleged father. There was as large an attendance of specta tors as on the preceding days of the trial. Anschel was cross-examined by Lawyer Goff, counsel for the Mayor. He said he had been a resident of Long Island City about two years, and he carried on business at his home in the Fifth Ward, Astoria. He became identifled with the Citizens' Movement in 1891. He had been appointed a member of the Special Committee organized for the purpose f securing relief for the city schools. The witnesses admitted that he went mong the brewers to solicit funds in aid of the movement, but collected no money. Other members of the Committee also appealed to different citizens for aid to carry on he work proposed by the Committee. Mr. Goff drew from the witness that he been Secretary of the City Democratic Committee.

The witness denied that he ever said he was desirous of ousting Mayor Gleason from office.

"Did you ever arrest Mayor Gleason?" asked Mr. Goff.

"Yes, as deputy sheriff," was the answer.

"How long did you hold him?"

"Until I was thrown out by his henchmen."

Despite Mr. Fleming's objections the Court allowed Mr. Goff to continue, and the witness admitted that he had been sent to jail on the charge.

"Yes, sir, I have made several bets on the result, perhaps a half dozen."

The witness said that he never received any money for his services in the Citizen's Movement.

Re-examined by District-Attorney Fieming, the witness said that the charge against him preferred by the Fischer Society was nuruet, and he spent over $1,000 in trying to defeat it.

The witness characterized his conviction for an alleged assault on Mayor Gleason as a snap conviction because in less than three hours he was arrested, convicted and hurried hours he was arrested, convicted and hurried off to tail without being able to secure a Medical Cinchy, of New York, to be impacted of Gas Meters.

hours he was arrested, convicted and hurried off to jall without being able to secure a bondsman. The conviction was reversed by Judge Garretson.

Theodore Weeks, of Long Island City, described the manner in which the alleged assault was committed. His version of the assault showed that the Mayor tried to take some papers out of the hands of Mr. Nelson which the latter wanted read, but to which His Honor objected. The two men scuffied for at the papers, and Nelson was thrown down and his left shoulder pressed against a desk. The Mayor only relaxed his hold on Nelson when Anschel, as a deputy sheriff, arrested him.

The witness knew that Nelson's arm had been dislocated, because he was present when the wound was dressed.

Lawyer Jerome cross-examined the witness.

A recess was then taken.
